Wreck Burns After Hitting Mountainside

Found In Box Canyon By Photographer Who Sees "No Survivors"

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 17 (AP)—A Marine Corps plane carrying 38 Marines crashed and burned in the southern Alameda County hills today, only nine minutes from its destination at Alameda Naval Air Station.

El Toro Marine Air Station, where the flight originated, announced there were no survivors.

The wreckage was still burning when discovered by Russ Reed, Oakland Tribune photographer, and his pilot.

It lay on a 45-degree slope in a tight box canyon near Niles, 21 miles southeast of Oakland. There was no sign of life.

Reed and his pilot flew three times into the canyon alongside the flaming, twisted wreckage.

"Nothing could have lived," Reed said. "The only thing that is intact is the tail. I couldn't even see the wings or any insignia. There is only shiny, silvery metal."

Copters Can't Land

Reed said there was no spot for helicopters to land near the wreckage, about a mile and a half up Niles Canyon Road and the same distance from the town of Decoto.

Nevertheless, helicopters from the aircraft carrier Oriskany took off for the scene. A ground party of Marines was sent from Alameda Naval Air Station, to base its rescue operations from the Masonic home at Decoto.

The four-engine plane was carrying 33 Marines and five Marine crewmen from El Toro Marine Base in southern California to the Alameda Naval Air Station on San Francisco Bay.

The Marine plane was an RD5, the Navy equivalent of a DC4. Its passengers were all dressed in dungarees.

The site of the crash is almost identical with that of northern California's worst plane disaster. On Aug. 24, 1951, a United Air Lines DC6B crashed into the hills near Niles with a loss of 50 lives.

Second Military Disaster

Today's crash was the second military plane disaster in the area within 24 hours. Yesterday a B52 jet bomber exploded and fell in flaming pieces less than 30 miles east of Niles. Four officers were killed or missing. Four other airmen escaped.

The Marine plane was last reported at 1:42 p.m. when the pilot reported to the Oakland Municipal Airport that he was starting his approach to the Alameda Naval Air Station, 21 miles away.

The plane crashed and burned 1,300 feet up a wooded peak. Helicopters, small planes and sheriff's officers had hunted for hours before the wreckage was discovered.

Murky weather and rain squalls impeded visibility of the copters and the planes. An Oriskany helicopter was searching only eight miles away but couldn't see the dense smoke boiling up from the wrecked RD5.

However, there was no indication.

Adlai Accuses GOP Of Smile, Smear Tactics

Want People To Say Government Is Best; Nixon "Hatchetman"

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 17 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight accused the Republican party of conducting a "smile and smear" campaign that is lulling the American people into a false feeling of security.

"While the President smiles, the Republican hatchmen smear, while the President talks earnestly of peace, the secretary of state brandishes the bomb and threatens atomic war," the Democratic presidential aspirant said in a prepared speech.

"Their objective is simple," Stevenson said. "They want to everlastingly sell the people on their kind of government, to run down the competition and thereby to build up their own product."

"One of the techniques is to smile and smear, and to work both sides of the street, at which I have found the Republicans remarkably agile."

Nixon Is "Hatchet Man"

Stevenson said Vice President Richard Nixon "is one of the chief Republican hatchmen."

"Perhaps the vice president's speeches are not important as historical documents. But what is important is the tone of smug confidence about the peace which he says this administration has restored to the world. When the President's chief spokesman takes such boastful satisfaction in the situation it confirms our fears, and the Soviet hope, that the administration actually believes its own propaganda—when the facts are:

"That we have been spending 40 billion dollars a year for peace and security—and there is none.

"That we don't even have preponderant power in new weapons any longer.

"That in spite of last summer's rosy optimism at the summit, our situation is more perilous than ever."

France Is Paralyzed

"That our ally, France, is paralyzed and sorely pressed.

"That Germany is dismembered and restless.

"That nationalism is spreading like a grass fire through awakening Islam.

"That the guns are rumbling again in the Formosa Strait.

"That Soviet arms and influence are creeping into the tinder box of the Middle East.

"That the Communists are in full possession of the dynamic Chinese revolt against the white man, and are making great strides toward capturing the corresponding revolts in the Arab and African worlds."

"That neutralism is on the increase."

Senate Plans Probe Into Tanks Shipment To Tense Middle East

Ike Cancels Plan; Arabia, Israelis Angered By Deal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Senators tonight planned an investigation of the Eisenhower administration's abortive shipment of tanks to Saudi Arabia—an episode which angered both sides in the Middle East tinderbox.

President Eisenhower early today called off the shipment of 18 Walker Bulldog tanks after Israel called it "beyond comprehension" and Democratic senators denounced it as upsetting the Middle East military balance.

The call-off order upset the Arabs. The Saudi Arabian Embassy said it was "very surprised" and Ambassador Sheikh Abdullah Al-Kharyal arranged a State Department conference to seek an explanation.

Shipment Said "Unwise"

Sen. George D-Ga, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the proposed shipment "unwise." He demanded an explanation from Secretary of State Dulles as soon as Dulles returns from a Bahamas vacation.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said colleagues should study the advisability of a "full-scale investigation" of American policies in the Middle East.

In addition to halting the tanks at a Brooklyn dock, the Eisenhower administration suspended all export permits for arms shipments to the Middle East, and started a review of all such sales.

It seemed apparent the State and Defense departments had hoped to keep the tank shipment a secret. But the cat was let out of the bag yesterday with discovery of the 18 light reconnaissance tanks being loaded aboard the S.S. James Monroe at New York's Brooklyn docks, destination Dammam, Saudi Arabia.

State Department press officer Lincoln White disclosed the tanks agreement when confronted with this information. Shortly after midnight last night, after State Department officials were in touch with Eisenhower at his Thomasville, Ga., vacation headquarters, White notified newsmen that the shipment was being held up.

State Department officials readying their explanations for Congress came up with this picture:

Saudi Arabia agreed June 18, 1951, to let the United States build and operate a forward bomber base at Dhahran. This is less than 1,000 miles from the Russian border. At the same time the United States agreed to sell Saudi Arabia military equipment and help to modernize her army.

The air base agreement expires next June 17 and negotiations will shortly begin on extending it five more years.

When Saudi Arabia applied last April for 18 M41 Walker tanks and other equipment, reportedly including 18 bigger M47 tanks, U. S. officials had to consider a number of factors. Would the Saudis refuse to extend the air base agreement if turned down? Would they accept Russian overtures to provide military aid? Would sending the tanks upset the arms balance which the United States, Britain and France pledged in 1950 to preserve?

Pentagon Fills Order

Officials did five months of soul searching. Finally, they told the Pentagon in September to go ahead and fill the order. The decision was that the small amount of weapons involved would not matter—even though Egypt by that time had arranged to buy 80 million dollars worth of war equipment from the Soviet bloc. U. S. officials feared rejection might cause Saudi Arabia to turn to Russia and close out the U. S. base, possibly handing it over to the Soviets.

However, the decision was reviewed again about Jan. 1. By then, Arab-Israeli tensions had increased. Israel was pressing for 50 million dollars in U. S. defensive arms to counter Egypt's growing strength.

Again, however, the ruling was that Saudi Arabia was no menace to Israel even though it is bound by treaty to fight alongside Egypt should the Palestine war break out again. The light tanks it was argued, would be used only for training purposes and far away from the potential area of combat.

Gas Bill Foes Pleased

Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-NY), at left, and Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), leaders of the Senate fight against the natural gas bill which was passed by the body last week, shake hands with pleasure after President Eisenhower's veto of the controversial measure was announced to Capitol Hill lawmakers. (AP Photofax).

Ike Slaps At Activities Of Its Backers

Refuses To Sign; "Risks Creating Doubt Of American People"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The natural gas bill died suddenly today—killed by a wad of $100 bills and a presidential veto.

With a slap at the "arrogance" and "highly questionable activities" of some supporters of the legislation, President Eisenhower refused to sign it into law.

He said he agreed with the basic objectives of the bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. But he said that to put his signature on it now would "risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

The President left no doubt that he was referring to the $2,500 campaign contribution—25 $100 bills in an envelope—offered to Sen. Case (R-SD) a few weeks before the Senate voted on the controversial legislation.

Money Offer Boomerangs

Case refused the donation, and in a subsequent investigation a special Senate committee traced the money to oil and gas interests favoring passage of the bill. The committee is now trying to decide whether or not the contribution was offered in an attempt to influence Case's vote.

But at any rate it was clear that the $2,500 proffered by ardent supporters of the bill had boomeranged and dealt a death blow to the measure, in its present form at least. Nobody had any belief that Congress would override the veto.

The bill had split party lines wide open in its passage through Congress. On the final Senate tally 31 Republicans and 22 Democrats voted for it, with 14 Republicans and 24 Democrats opposed. That made the vote 53-38, well short of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto. The House vote was closer, 209-203.

Eisenhower's veto message was drafted at his vacation headquarters near Thomasville, Ga., and delivered to the House, where the legislation originated last year. It hit Congress with a thump.

Foes Are Jubilant

Senators who fought the bill, on the ground that it would add millions of dollars to consumers' gas bills, made no attempt to conceal their elation. "I'm dancing a jig," crowed Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.).

Gloom prevailed on the other side, which had argued the bill would benefit consumers by encouraging exploration for gas. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), one of the authors of the bill, called the veto message "weak," while Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) said, "I think if he—Eisenhower—lives this is his announcement for re-election."

Kerr added "it was a political veto by one seeking to promote his own political welfare" rather than the welfare of the gas industry and the millions of consumers dependent upon it.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark), who sponsored the bill in the House, said he didn't see how the veto could be interpreted "as anything else but the rankest political demagoguery."

"It is the greatest indictment of Congress in my 16 years experience."

Army Escapee Glad To Return From Russia

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—A young Georgia soldier, who spent four years in Communist hands after escaping from a U. S. Army guardhouse, returned thankfully today to American custody.

The Russians turned over Pvt. Sidney Ray Sparks, 23, of Tennille, Ga., to Army authorities in East Berlin.

Smiling and looking happy, Sparks said: "I am thankful for every assistance given me in my release from the Soviets."

He was facing a court-martial on charges of assaulting and robbing a German taxi driver when he broke out of the guardhouse in West Berlin Dec. 4, 1951.

An Army legal officer said Sparks still faces these charges and an investigation is under way as to whether he will also be accused of desertion.

Sparks' release closed out a list of American soldiers known to be in Russian captivity. The Army's Berlin command still has 10 men missing, one since 1949, but nothing is known of their whereabouts.

Although Sparks spent most of his time in Soviet labor camps, he appeared to be in good health.

The initial physical examination showed he is "in a good state of nutrition with no apparent evidence that he is suffering from any acute or chronic diseases," an Army spokesman said.

His mother is Mrs. Lucille Cooper Gladin of Tennille. She said today she was very happy he is back in American hands. She has not seen him since he joined the Army in 1949 and has not heard from him since 1951.

Sparks made his 1951 guardhouse escape with Pvt. Ray D. Schultz of Batavia, N. Y., and Pvt. Charles J. Scott of Decatur, Ill. Scott's whereabouts are undetermined.

Schultz returned to West Berlin in June 1952. He was court-martialed and sentenced to five years in prison.

War Goods Sale Info Requested

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) put pressure on the Pentagon today to disclose whether the government has agreed to free world sales of war goods to Russia.

McClellan, chairman of a Senate subcommittee studying Red trade in strategic materials, said he is determined to get the information. He threatened to use "legal process steps" if necessary.

Defense Department witnesses have refused to testify about the situation on the ground it is "classified" or in the secret category. But members of the subcommittee said it was common knowledge abroad that some important items, like aluminum, have been taken off the embargo list.

McClellan sent Robert M. Penney, a Defense Department attorney, to the telephone to break the information loose. Penney talked with legal authorities at the Pentagon and reported the question was being taken up with higher authorities.

Timothy C. May, a Defense Department expert on light metals, testified today he doesn't think aluminum, magnesium and other metals vital to a war industry should be sold to the Soviet Union. But he told the senators he has no authority to tell them whether the goods have been taken off the prohibited list.

Devil Blamed After Man Slays Wife, Children

SHERBROOKE, Que. Feb. 17 (AP)—A 39-year-old Sherbrooke accountant who blamed the devil for pushing him into killing his wife and four children was formally charged today with murder.

Romeo Drapeau was arrested Monday a few hours after his pregnant wife and his children were found bludgeoned to death.

A coroner's jury found Drapeau criminally responsible for the deaths of his wife, 38, and his children Claude, 7, Pierre, 6, Michel, 3, and Manon, 11 months. He was formally charged only with the murder of his wife.

Ross Resigns Attorney Post

OMAHA, Feb. 17 (AP)—U.S. Atty. Donald R. Ross announced today he is resigning his office immediately.

Ross said in a statement that although his resignation had not been requested, it is prompted by speculation concerning his relationship with John Neff, Lexington attorney whose offer of a $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Case (R-SD) touched off a Senate investigation.

"I have decided it would be best for me to resign," Ross said he had "violated no law" and had "done nothing dishonorable."

Sens. Hruska and Curtis, Nebraska Republicans, said earlier that Neff had urged them to vote for the gas bill last fall. Ross reportedly arranged the meetings. He was a former mayor of Lexington.

Shubert Judgment Ends Antitrust Suit

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman today signed a consent judgment ending a six-year-old government civil antitrust suit against the Shubert theatrical enterprises.

Terms of the judgment require the Shuberts to dispose of 12 theaters in Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, New York City and Philadelphia.

Probers Get $50,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Senate voted $50,000 today for the Gore subcommittee which is planning a broad investigation into any efforts by "selfish interests" to influence elections or legislation improperly.

Boy, 16, Shoots Mother Because "She Was Sick"

PAWTUCKET, R.I., Feb. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Harris, 44, was shot dead today at her home near Narragansett Park race track. Police Chief Edward F. Parker said a 16-year-old son, Gordon, admitted he killed her "because she was sick and being abused and was living a terrible life."

Police said they had ascertained Mrs. Harris did not have a malignant disease. However, they shed no light on the boy's statements that his mother was "abused" and living a "terrible" life.

Parker said a .22 caliber pistol was found on the floor of a station wagon the son was trying to start when a police cruiser blocked his path. Officers took him into custody without resistance.

Mrs. Harris operated a trailer camp with her husband, Frank. They rented trailers as living quarters, and occupied a dwelling beside the camp.

Chief Parker quoted young Harris as having told detectives:

"I killed my mother because I loved her so much. She'd been working too hard. She was sick and being abused, and was living a terrible life."

"I figured on killing her for a long time. I figured it would be better for her to be dead than to continue the life she was living."

Whitey Dahl Dies In Crash Of Plane, One Man Survives

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (AP)—Air Force sources reported tonight Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, aerial soldier of fortune, was killed in the crash of a DC3 he was ferrying over northern Quebec last Tuesday.

A ski-equipped Canadian search plane spotted the wreckage today and picked up one survivor and two bodies.

The survivor was identified here tonight as E. Pearson of Miami, an Air Force. Later he flew as a Fla., co-owner of the plane piloted by Dahl.

Dahl was 47 years old.

The crashed plane was located 25 miles northwest of Fort Chimo, at the head of Ungava Bay, 800 miles north of the city of Quebec. The rescue plane landed at Fort Chimo en route to Goose Bay, Labrador, with the survivor.

Dahl and two or more companions left Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island Tuesday on a 3½-hour flight across Hudson Strait to Fort Chimo.

Dahl first hit the headlines when he was shot down while flying for the republic's forces in the Spanish civil war in 1937. He was sentenced

Missing Student's Body Is Found In Reservoir

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 17 (AP)—The body of Thomas L. Clark, 18, MIT freshman who stepped out of an automobile on a lonely, dark road just a week ago in a fraternity initiation, was found 10 miles away under the ice of Cambridge Reservoir today by skin divers.

Three divers of a team of seven that had worked throughout the day in subfreezing temperatures were making a final descent for the day when they saw the body. It had floated up in 25 feet of water just under the ice in nearby Walnut.

Part of the reservoir is covered by large sections of ice open with ice. It was believed the youth—unfamiliar with the area—was heading toward a main highway when he met death.

His father, Alfred R. Clark, Harvey, Ill., telephone executive, was not at the scene. He remained at the state police barracks in nearby Concord.

When he identified one buckskin shoe found on the ice yesterday he expressed the feeling his son had drowned.

The elder Clark had branded fraternity initiation stunts as "criminal" and MIT President James R. Killian Jr., issued a statement after the body was found saying excesses associated with hazings will be eliminated.

Dr. Killian said young Clark's fraternity mates were "completely innocent of any conscious negligence." He added that they too were victims of "long-practiced traditions and procedures which it is now clear cannot be condoned in this institution or any other in dormitories or fraternities."

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 17 (AP)—A 39-year-old Sherbrooke accountant who blamed the devil for pushing him into killing his wife and four children was formally charged today with murder.

Romeo Drapeau was arrested Monday a few hours after his pregnant wife and his children were found bludgeoned to death.

A coroner's jury found Drapeau criminally responsible for the deaths of his wife, 38, and his children Claude, 7, Pierre, 6, Michel, 3, and Manon, 11 months. He was formally charged only with the murder of his wife.

Fresh Snowstorms Strike Europe; Known Dead Hits 616; Damage In Millions

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Fresh snowstorms tonight heaped new misery on Europe, ice-locked in a relentless three-week cold wave which already has claimed 616 lives.

Damage to crops ran into hundreds of millions of dollars. Fuel shortages grew. Yugoslav army artillery shelled ice barriers massed on the Morava River in eastern Serbia in an effort to ease flooding.

Known deaths attributed to the 20th Century's worst freezeup: France 147, Turkey 72, Italy 74, Yugoslavia 67, Britain 50, Denmark 33, Greece 30, Germany 30, Austria 19, Holland 23, Portugal 17, Spain 19, Switzerland 12, Belgium 10, Sweden 6, Poland 4, Norway 3. The cold extended south to Africa where five additional deaths were counted — three in Spanish Morocco and two in Libya.

Snow fell over London, East Anglia and southeast England and the forecast was "very much colder weather." Rugby games were called off.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, just returned from the tropical sun of humid Nigeria, drove through a snow storm to Windsor Castle with their two children.

Records showed Italy's 16-day cold wave was the worst since 1845. The U. S. Embassy announced a $50,000 American Red Cross donation to help Italian cold victims. The U. S. Air Force wound up its airlift from Germany across the Alps to Italy after delivering more than 700,000 pounds of supplies for Italian storm victims. Pope Pius XII gave a special blessing to Americans who worked on the airlift.

Light snow fell over most of France and the temperature hovered at the freezing point. The French Ministry of Agriculture estimated crop damage at more than 571 million dollars, mostly in wheat. The Italian Ministry of Agriculture warned crop damage will be tremendous. Spain estimated its citrus crop losses at more than 50 million dollars.

The reports raised fears of coming food shortages. Looking ahead to a thaw, Europeans braced themselves for even heavier crop losses through flooding of farmlands.

Freezing temperatures were reported from Belgium and soccer games were called off. Snow fell in Berlin, with the temperature at 20 degrees. West Germany's streets were covered with brick-hard snow and ice. Schools in Baden Baden closed because of a fuel shortage. At Welden, in Bavaria, the thermometer hit 20 below.

Ross Resigns Attorney Post

OMAHA, Feb. 17 (AP)—U.S. Atty. Donald R. Ross announced today he is resigning his office immediately.

Ross said in a statement that although his resignation had not been requested, it is prompted by speculation concerning his relationship with John Neff, Lexington attorney whose offer of a $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Case (R-SD) touched off a Senate investigation.

"I have decided it would be best for me to resign," Ross said he had "violated no law" and had "done nothing dishonorable."

Sens. Hruska and Curtis, Nebraska Republicans, said earlier that Neff had urged them to vote for the gas bill last fall. Ross reportedly arranged the meetings. He was a former mayor of Lexington.

Bowie Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Senate today approved the nomination of Robert R. Bowie, Massachusetts lawyer, as assistant secretary of state for policy planning. Action came on a voice vote without debate.

Boy, 16, Shoots Mother Because "She Was Sick"

PAWTUCKET, R.I., Feb. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Harris, 44, was shot dead today at her home near Narragansett Park race track. Police Chief Edward F. Parker said a 16-year-old son, Gordon, admitted he killed her "because she was sick and being abused and was living a terrible life."

Police said they had ascertained Mrs. Harris did not have a malignant disease. However, they shed no light on the boy's statements that his mother was "abused" and living a "terrible" life.

Parker said a .22 caliber pistol was found on the floor of a station wagon the son was trying to start when a police cruiser blocked his path. Officers took him into custody without resistance.

Mrs. Harris operated a trailer camp with her husband, Frank. They rented trailers as living quarters, and occupied a dwelling beside the camp.

Chief Parker quoted young Harris as having told detectives: "I killed my mother because I loved her so much. She'd been working too hard. She was sick and being abused, and was living a terrible life."

"I figured on killing her for a long time. I figured it would be better for her to be dead than to continue the life she was living."

Whitey Dahl Dies In Crash Of Plane, One Man Survives

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (AP)—Air Force sources reported tonight Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, aerial soldier of fortune, was killed in the crash of a DC3 he was ferrying over northern Quebec last Tuesday.

A ski-equipped Canadian search plane spotted the wreckage today and picked up one survivor and two bodies.

The survivor was identified here tonight as E. Pearson of Miami, Fla., co-owner of the plane piloted by Dahl.

Dahl was 47 years old. The crashed plane was located 25 miles northwest of Fort Chimo, at the head of Ungava Bay, 800 miles north of the city of Quebec.

The rescue plane landed at Fort Chimo en route to Goose Bay, Labrador, with the survivor.

Dahl and two or more companions left Fort Chimo on a 3½-hour flight across Hudson Strait to Fort Chimo.

Dahl first hit the headlines when he was shot down while flying for the republic's forces in the Spanish civil war in 1937. He was sentenced to death by the regime of Gen. Francisco Franco.

Ike Slaps At Activities Of Its Backers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The natural gas bill died suddenly today—killed by a wad of $100 bills and a presidential veto.

With a slap at the "arrogance" and "highly questionable activities" of some supporters of the legislation, President Eisenhower refused to sign it into law.

He said he agreed with the basic objectives of the bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. But he said that to put his signature on it now would "risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

The President left no doubt that he was referring to the $2,500 campaign contribution—25 $100 bills in an envelope—offered to Sen. Case (R-SD) a few weeks before the Senate voted on the controversial legislation.

Money Offer Boomerangs

Case refused the donation, and in a subsequent investigation a special Senate committee traced the money to oil and gas interests favoring passage of the bill. The committee is now trying to decide whether or not the contribution was offered in an attempt to influence Case's vote.

But at any rate it was clear that the $2,500 proffered by ardent supporters of the bill had boomeranged and dealt a death blow to the measure, in its present form at least. Nobody had any belief that Congress would override the veto.

The bill had split party lines wide open in its passage through Congress. On the final Senate tally 31 Republicans and 22 Democrats voted for it, with 14 Republicans and 24 Democrats opposed. That made the vote 53-38, well short of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto. The House vote was closer, 209-203.

Eisenhower's veto message was drafted at his vacation headquarters near Thomasville, Ga., and delivered to the House, where the legislation originated last year. It hit Congress with a thump.

Foes Are Jubilant

Senators who fought the bill, on the ground that it would add millions of dollars to consumers' gas bills, made no attempt to conceal their elation. "I'm dancing a jig," crowed Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.).

Gloom prevailed on the other side, which had argued the bill would benefit consumers by encouraging exploration for gas. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), one of the authors of the bill, called the veto message "weak," while Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) said, "I think if he—Eisenhower—lives this is his announcement for re-election."

Kerr added "it was a political veto by one seeking to promote his own political welfare" rather than the welfare of the gas industry and the millions of consumers dependent upon it.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), who sponsored the bill in the House, said he didn't see how the veto could be interpreted "as anything else but the rankest political demagoguery."

"It is the greatest indictment of Congress in my 16 years experience," he said. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Britain's Defense Program Accents Nuclear Weapons

Prime Minister Eden's government said the program was essential to defeat what the British termed Russia's fundamental aim of world domination.

Probers Claim Plane Builders Prosper Highly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Congressional investigators today built up a picture of aircraft manufacturers prospering highly on government contracts fulfilled in rent-free government buildings.

After receiving evidence that the government is virtually the sole customer of the aircraft makers, and that government facilities made available to them run into the millions of dollars, Rep. Hebert (D-La.) remarked to J. L. Atwood, president of North American Aviation, Inc.:

"In effect you're a government employee."

Hebert, chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee, said Air Force and Navy officials will be called in for questioning as to the policies and negotiating practices that determine what profits the government's aircraft suppliers make.

Testimony today before the subcommittee, which is studying aircraft manufacturing profits, centered on the affairs of North American and the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore.

Last year, witnesses said, 99.66 per cent of North American's sales and 99.7 per cent of Glenn Martin's were to the government.

Hebert said the subcommittee is making no implication of wrongdoing, but wants to inquire into "the philosophy behind such a system." He and other subcommittee members praised North American for its accomplishment in helping arm the United States.

A government White Paper outlining 1956-1957 defense plans reported, without elaborating, that work is expanding on the development of a "variety of nuclear weapons." It added:

"Particular emphasis is being placed on the development of the ballistic rocket as a deterrent to aggression."

Defense Minister Sir Walter Monckton later told reporters the rocket is an intercontinental type of missile. Its development has been discussed by British spokesmen previously.

The White Paper blamed Russia for shattering world hopes last year of a live-and-let-live agreement between East and West. Such an accord could have had the effect of easing the defense burden which is weighing heavily on many countries, the document said.

It went on: "The advent of the hydrogen bomb has enormously strengthened the power of the deterrent and, provided the deterrent is maintained, the likelihood of global war has decreased."

"The main threat to our freedom and security will come from an intensification of the cold war in all areas susceptible to Communist penetration, and our forces must be prepared against the possible outbreak of limited wars. There is no sign that the leaders of Soviet Russia have abandoned their aims of world domination."

The White Paper declared at another point that Britain must be ready to face localized conflicts "on a scale short of global war" in which "the possible use of nuclear weapons cannot be excluded."

Among the highlights in the White Paper: Britain will stage two further series of nuclear weapon tests this year—first in the Monte Bello Islands off Australia in the spring and then at Maralinga in southern Australia.

The government has begun to reshape its defensive strategy and all of its forces to conform with new weapon and warfare techniques.

The White Paper pledged Britain will continue the quest for a global disarmament pact. But it stressed that no known methods now exist for insuring the destruction of nuclear weapon stockpiles or for controlling future nuclear output.

John E. Yingling, school superintendent, said the board has not yet reached a decision.

The recommendation to desegregate was made in a majority report of the Citizens' Committee on Desegregation. It was composed of representatives of 16 county Parent-Teacher Assns.

The report recommended that all students be permitted to attend schools of their choice, subject to the availability of facilities and to the approval of the board of education.

Formosa Troops Hear Billy Graham Preach

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 17 (AP)—Billy Graham preached to armed forces personnel at a stadium in downtown Taipei tonight. Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek was on the platform and joined in the hymn singing.

Her appearance was greeted with spontaneous applause by a capacity audience of about 8,000 persons.

Graham opened by saying "Millions of Americans follow the happenings on this island with admiration for your courage and strength."

"Probably more people pray for Taiwan (Formosa) than for any other place in the world," he said. He described the Nationalist Chinese island as one of the most beautiful places on earth.

Kefauver Calls Saudi Arabia Turncoat Envoys Tank Deal GOP Blunder Knew Priceless Secrets Of U.S.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver today called the on-and-off tanks to Arabia deal a Republican blunder in which the U. S. ends up "making both sides mad."

The Tennessee Senator who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination, said the offer of the tanks and the cancellation is "another blunder" which will "make things more difficult in the Near East."

He accused the GOP administration of "trying to appease both sides" in the Arab-Israeli crisis.

Kefauver flew to Baltimore from Florida for a luncheon appearance and was to be back in Winter Haven, Fla. tonight.

He was the fall guy at today's annual Saints and Sinners charity luncheon.

The tall Tennesseean was the butt of a number of skits presenting various phases of his life. The presidential hopeful appeared amused but none brought from him any raucous laughter.

He did not speak at the luncheon. His comments came at a press conference.

He said he had not yet decided whether to enter the Maryland preferential primary May 7.

He said he did not plan any conferences with Maryland Democratic leaders today. However, he was greeted at the luncheon by several local politicians.

Of President Eisenhower and his heart attack, Kefauver said "I'm glad he's better. He's the strongest possible candidate the Republicans could put up" but the Democrats "will win in any event."

Kefauver wouldn't say who he thought would be his toughest Democratic contender.

Kefauver said if he's nominated by the Democrats Eisenhower's physical condition would not be an issue, adding: "Even before his illness the people around him were doing things in his name that haven't been good."

Of Florida he said he regards it as a significant battle ground. "It's the one primary in the deep south."

As for integration in his home state of Tennessee he said there has not been "too much progress" there along those lines. He cited Chattanooga as one place where there had been limited integration.

Asked about his coonskin cap, Kefauver said it "still our trademark" but that his manager "thinks I'm too old to wear one now."

The Army secretary said the fact that the Soviets disclaimed any connection with the two Britons for almost five years before producing them at a news conference is "a startling reminder of the grim task ahead."

Brucker said the handling of the case of the former British diplomats is an example of a calculated Kremlin effort to create confusion.

He said there is equal danger in the Soviet technique of promoting neutralism in an effort to divide the free world and "subdue it bit by bit."

Wreck Burns Morris To Head Chesapeake Newsmen

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17 (AP)—Oscar L. Morris, editor of the Salisbury Times, was elected president today of the Chesapeake Assn. of The Associated Press.

He succeeds William F. Schmick Jr., executive vice-president of the Baltimore Sunpapers.

Fred Archibald, publisher of the Baltimore News-Post, was named vice president. Max Fullerton, chief of the AP's Baltimore bureau, was re-elected secretary.

"It is based on the stupidity, as acknowledged in the veto message, of an individual who apparently committed questionable acts with other stupid people."

Eisenhower told Congress that since passage of the bill "a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities."

"These," the President went on, "include efforts I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

"If you can't control it now it can be controlled with Freedom and Comfort in every normal day and night activity."

"It is based on the stupidity, as acknowledged in the veto message, of an individual who apparently committed questionable acts with other stupid people."

Eisenhower told Congress that since passage of the bill "a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities."

"These," the President went on, "include efforts I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Turncoat Envoys Knew Priceless Secrets Of U.S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said today that the British turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean "knew about some of our most closely guarded secrets — secrets of priceless value to the Communist conspiracy."

Brucker, discussing Russia's disclosure several days ago that the two former British officials are in Moscow, called this an illustration of the "vicious nature of the monster with which we must deal and also the depths of its penetration into the vitals of the free world."

The two British diplomats disappeared in May 1951. Burgess had served as second secretary of the British Embassy, after the outbreak of the war in Korea, and Maclean was in the British Embassy here for four years ending in 1948.

In Washington, Maclean was a member of a board dealing with the procurement of atomic material and the classification of secret information about that material.

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission previously has denied that Maclean had access to nuclear secrets.

Brucker spoke about the British diplomats in a speech to the Executives Club of Chicago.

He described Burgess and Maclean as "two prize pieces of evidence of the deceit and treachery, which have so long been principal characteristics of Communist tactics."

The Army secretary said the fact that the Soviets disclaimed any connection with the two Britons for almost five years before producing them at a news conference is "a startling reminder of the grim task ahead."

Brucker said the handling of the case of the former British diplomats is an example of a calculated Kremlin effort to create confusion. He said there is equal danger in the Soviet technique of promoting neutralism in an effort to divide the free world and "subdue it bit by bit."

PAL AND POOCHIE

They belong to a little girl. And she loves them both. But, although she is only a tot, she understands the difference between Pal and Poochie.

Poochie is just her "doggie dollie." She can talk to him, and pat him, and cuddle him at night in her crib. But she has to pretend that he loves her too!

Pal is her "bow-wow." He answers words and caresses with his eyes and his bark and his wagging tail. He follows her, he snuggles up to her. His love is just as real as his funny cold nose.

Poochie will one day retire to the attic. But Pal will be her pal for all of his faithful life.

Brings home, does it not, the importance of responding to love?

The love which inspires man's faithfulness is God's love. The Response is our Christian worship and life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

They belong to a little girl. And she loves them both. But, although she is only a tot, she understands the difference between Pal and Poochie.

Poochie is just her "doggie dollie." She can talk to him, and pat him, and cuddle him at night in her crib. But she has to pretend that he loves her too!

Pal is her "bow-wow." He answers words and caresses with his eyes and his bark and his wagging tail. He follows her, he snuggles up to her. His love is just as real as his funny cold nose.

Poochie will one day retire to the attic. But Pal will be her pal for all of his faithful life.

Brings home, does it not, the importance of responding to love?

The love which inspires man's faithfulness is God's love. The Response is our Christian worship and life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Western Powers Are The Liberators

News from London that Britain is planning to grant independence to one more section of her dwindling colonial empire — the Federation of Malaya — on August 31, 1957, points up once again the comparison made by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden in their recent Declaration of Washington.

In this day and in this age it is the Western powers, the great colonizers of centuries past, which are the great liberators of mankind. It is Russia which is the great colonizer and enslaver.

The contrast could hardly be more glaring. In the past few years Britain has granted freedom to India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon—and Malaya is about to be added to the list. The United States has freely and willingly helped to independent status the only colony of any size it has ever held — the Philippines. France, more slowly and more grudgingly to be sure, is granting greater autonomy to its colonies in North Africa and in Asia. Altogether nearly half a billion people—a population more than twice as great as Russia's—have been given their independence.

In the same years, what has the Soviet Union done? It has reduced to colonial status Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, and East Germany. It has enslaved millions and freed none.

But if this is clear enough to those on this side of the iron curtain, the plain if inexplicable fact is that it has not been enough to convince the neutrals of Asia and the Arab world that their best hope for continued freedom and independence in the future lies with the West. Perhaps it will take nothing less than the enslavement of one of their own company by the Communist colonizers to drive this lesson home.

Down In Alabama

I don't need to write this piece. I have a good excuse. I cannot go down to Alabama to study the situation first hand. And even if I could, how much can one know about a complex race problem unless he actually lives with it? Race is even more profound than religion in the spirits of men.

I lived for more than 13 years as a member of a dominant racial minority, generally known as a yang kuei tze, a foreign devil among the Chinese. Were it a matter of preference, they would have got along without us. Certainly, they resented the biological mixture, when it occurred; customs, traditions, responses were different and with the best of intentions, one had to be careful not to give offense.

The point about race prejudice is that it is ubiquitous. That does not make it right or just, but a fact. And many facts are ugly and unwanted. And in many cases there are no realistic solutions. The ugly fact continues despite almost universal agreement that it is ugly. This much is certain that there is no evidence in the whole of human history that any race or even nation has been forced by any means to love another race or nation.

Education has done much in the United States to lessen racial prejudice, but not enough to eliminate the problem. For instance, a Jew in New York can be on the most intimate terms with certain men; they may see each other every day and dine in each other's homes, but it is impossible for that Jew to become a member of the club to which, let us say, all of his intimate friends belong. They will advise him not to permit his name to be presented. There is always someone who will exercise the right of blackball on a racial issue. His own sense of superiority requires him to do it. He faces no particular problem; he expresses an inherited and inherent prejudice.

While in practical terms this is meaningless, it represents the same form of racial antagonism which has caused all the trouble in Alabama where, I am told by those who should know, gradualism was making significant progress. Gradualism means that Negroes and whites of good will sit down to find solutions for such problems as they can solve; they postpone other problems to subsequent meetings.

Of course, it does happen that some problems can never be solved at a meeting. One of them is intermarriage against which every group has rigid taboos. I was recently in conversation with a Catholic girl whose boy is Jewish and they want to get married. His mother objects to his choice. So they are having a tough time.

As all social relations have their end purpose in marriage, the question of intermarriage looms large in the development of any type of prejudice. There should be enough knowledge in the world that racial purity is a myth; that as we are only beginning to learn about racial origins and migrations, it is very difficult to trace ancestry back far enough on all sides to know exactly what it is and that the genes determine what we are and we know not where our particular genes originated. But knowing that is like learning calculus; you remember it long enough to pass an examination and then go along with your prejudices. The Turks are still concerned about their possible descent from the Hittites, which may be interesting, but what does it prove? Is my Welsh wife pure Celt or was there a Phoenician influence for thousand years ago? Who knows and what difference can it make?

These arguments are not sound because they are unavailing. The prejudices continue even among the literate, even among men of good will. The human race does not function rationally; it is emotional, excitable, with loves and hatreds that make no sense but exist.

The conservative recognizes that the changes that are most effective are those which by slow processes affect the reason. He fears the consequences of emotional responses to public questions; they usually produce the opposite of what was anticipated, and the opposite is most often ugly. Revolutions designed to produce equality usually produce a dictatorship; the cure is often worse than the disease.

The Kremlin Plot To Dynamite The Bridge

Truman Indicates Adlai Must Follow Bosses

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman has served notice that Adlai Stevenson must recognize him and the "big city bosses" of the Democratic Party or he will not get the nomination this year. Mr. Truman, in his "memoirs" in Life Magazine, criticizes Mr. Stevenson severely for failing in the 1952 campaign to "give proper recognition to existing Democratic organizations in the major population centers."

As Mr. Truman owed his rise in politics in Missouri to the boss-rule of the Pendergast organization in Kansas City, it is natural to find him scolding Mr. Stevenson as follows: "By alienating many influential Democratic political leaders at the outset Stevenson may have thought he was attaining full freedom of action. But in reality he needlessly sacrificed basic political backing and perhaps millions in votes. ... A Democratic candidate for any office will usually fare better in his campaign if he does not throw away organization support without good reason."

Most political observers will be surprised to learn that Adlai Stevenson threw away any support whatsoever in 1952, and that the former President speaks so glibly of the loss of "millions of votes." It is apparent from a reading of the whole article that Mr. Truman is at odds with Mr. Stevenson because somehow the latter didn't fall all over himself to accept always the advice of the then functioning leader of the party.

It is apparent also that Mr. Truman is irritated because Mr. Stevenson permitted himself to use the phrase "the mess in Washington." Here is how the former President describes it:

"Stevenson, during an interview in Oregon, quoted a reporter's phrase in answering a question and said that he would clean up 'the mess in Washington.' I wonder if he had been taken in by the Republican fraudulent build-up of a few flyspecks on our Washington windows into a big blot or 'mess'."

Now the truth is Mr. Stevenson didn't give an interview but answered a letter in which the editor of The Oregon Journal—a supporter of Stevenson—had asked what he would do about "the mess in Washington." It was a slip of the pen on Stevenson's part that, in his reply in quoting from the Oregon editor's letter, he forgot to put the words in quotation marks. There is nothing in the reply by Mr. Stevenson, published at that time, which indicates that he concurred in the Republican concept of "the mess in Washington," though he didn't consider it as insignificant as a "flyspeck," either.

Mr. Truman says also that "another mistake by Mr. Stevenson was to allow himself to go on the defensive on the question of so-called Communists in government." But, after all, Mr. Stevenson had to overcome, if he could, the political damage done by the phrase used by Mr. Truman when he called the House Committee's disclosures about Alger Hiss a "red herring." Also, in the 1956 campaign Mr. Stevenson will have to explain away in some fashion Mr. Truman's refusal to tell the American people why, after having been warned by the FBI director about the late Harry Dexter White, he wrote a letter of fulsome praise to the former treasury official within two months of that incident and then a similar letter the next year. It's going to be

Case Of Psychopathic Maligner Raises Problem

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deffen

British physicians have their hands full with a traveling maligner. For almost five years this young man, now in his early 20s, has been popping in and out of hospitals in England, Ireland, and Scotland; he has even crossed the channel and pulled his stunt on Parisian medics.

This patient usually is brought to a hospital in a dazed condition after collapsing on the street. The nose and ears are gory and tests usually disclose blood in the urine. Doctors R. A. Gawn and E. A. Kaufman of Chelsea wrote about this case in the British Medical Journal of October 29, 1955.

Their report brought numerous letters from physicians in England and Ireland, all telling the same story. At the Chelsea hospital, it was found that the blood around the young man's face was dry and no bleeding points were visible in the ear canals or nasal passage-ways.

But the patient was given the benefit of the doubt and an exhaustive study was made of his blood, kidneys, and intestinal tract. The only positive finding was blood in the urine and the man was diagnosed as a bleeder and given appropriate treatment. Shortly thereafter he started acting up and wandered all over the hospital.

In desperation, the staff decided to remove him to the observation ward. Here he was watched every minute and knew it. Hemorrhaging ceased and within 72 hours he requested a discharge. At that time a diagnosis was made of psychopathic maligner.

This led to an investigation which disclosed that the fellow had been in 29 different hospitals since 1951. All attempts to photograph him had been unsuccessful because when the attempt was made, he would check out of the hospital at once. No one could arrest him because there is no law against maligning.

Where was the blood coming from and why was the young man behaving this way? Drug addiction was suspected because he usually asked for a narcotic to relieve colicky abdominal pain. But he also insisted he was a bleeder and displayed many scars and open cuts on his arms, ankles, hips, and abdomen which he said were due to transfusions given by physicians.

The lesions were not over veins, however, and they were in areas accessible to either of the patient's hands. It became obvious that the man was lying; he was cutting himself in various parts of the body and smearing the blood around his nose and ears. The question arises: Should not this man be institutionalized?

Trevor Gardner Stuns Congressmen With Secret Testimony On Missiles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In testimony so electrifying it stunned Congressmen, but so secret only the bare details can be told, missiles expert Trevor Gardner charged that the Defense Department has failed to follow up vital scientific discoveries that could revolutionize air warfare. He warned fervently that the Russians may be pursuing these scientific concepts, thus gaining a military advantage that could spell disaster for the United States.

Gardner has just resigned as Assistant Air Force Secretary in protest against the lagging research program. He was promptly summoned behind closed doors by the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee to explain his stand. For three hours, he talked frankly about the internal conflicts that are holding back military research. Here are highlights that can be safely told:

1. Gardner revealed we have broken through the scientific barrier on new propulsion ideas and aerodynamic concepts that hold a "tremendous promise." These could boost the range, altitude and speed of our planes and missiles, he said—if we are willing to take the financial risk. Yet, for economy reasons, the Defense Department's civilian command has refused to go ahead.

Dollars Ahead Of Safety

2—He charged bluntly that our military planners "are underestimating the Russians." Intelligence reports from behind the Iron Curtain, he claimed, indicate that Soviet scientists are progressing faster on atomic and guided-missile research that we had credited them.

3. He warned that our defenses against enemy attack have been crippled for economy's sake. The minimum needs, outlined in the famous Killian Report, cannot be met under the present Air Force budget, he charged.

4. Gardner objected vigorously to the Defense Department's priority system, which puts equal emphasis on the intercontinental ballistic missile and the medium-range guided-missile. He warned this might mean the Russians get the ICBM first.

5. He charged that the total Air Force budget had been dangerously slashed. The Air Force would need $3 to $4 billion more than has been budgeted for fiscal year 1957, he estimated. He urged an increase of $316,000,000 in the research budget for 1957.

Gardner insisted there was nothing personal in his charges. He still counted Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force Quarles his friends. But he took sharp issue with their judgment. They believe in an orderly, step-by-step research program, he said, whereas he believes in following up scientific breakthroughs with an all-out effort.

Gardner charged that Wilson's approach "takes a lot longer and may eventually cost more money." He warned that the research and development program, affecting the security of the country, can't be run "the way you build automobiles."

"Our most precious asset is time," Gardner declared. "I can very well be wrong about the need for more research and development, but I don't think I am. On the other hand, they (Wilson and Quarles) could be wrong. I would rather see me proven wrong than see them proven wrong, because there is no prize for second place."

Republicans Heckle

Gardner, himself a Republican, was hit by a few hostile questions from Republicans attempting to defend the Administration.

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff told us they were satisfied with the Defense budget," rasped Congressman Errett Scrivner, Kansas Republican.

Gardner waved a secret document which he had sent to Secretary Quarles, requesting more money for research and development.

"General Twining (the Air Force chief) was one of the endorsers of this document," Gardner retorted. "He is the only member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff I am concerned about."

"If you read the fiscal reports, it looks as if research and development funds have been going up each year," Gardner agreed. "But what happened was a major change in bookkeeping. Actually, we received less money last year than the year before. And this year we received less than last year."

Blunt Backlash

He reminded committee members that last year they, themselves, "arbitrarily cut $18,000,000 off our research and development budget."

"Would you mind striking out the word, 'arbitrarily'?" asked Congressman Scrivner.

"Yes, I would mind," Gardner replied bluntly.

Earlier, Chairman George Mahon of Texas had announced he wanted to make clear that the hearing was nonpolitical.

"The committee is not meeting to write an indictment on individuals," he said. "We are deeply concerned about the differences of opinion, and we want to hear both sides. We are especially concerned about this guided-missiles business."

Gardner explained that Wilson had assigned equal priority to the intercontinental and medium-range missiles because he feared Russia would use her 1,500-mile missile to blackmail NATO nations. Wilson wanted to rush development of 1,500-mile missiles of our own and locate them strategically around Europe as a deterrent.

Gardner argued that Soviet supersonic fighter-bombers could hit targets with atomic bombs more effectively than medium-range missiles, thus could blackmail NATO nations without using missiles. In his opinion, he said, the Russians are building a 1,500-mile missile as one step toward the invincible intercontinental missile.

After his testimony, several Congressmen gathered around him and praised him for his patriotism. (Copyright, 1956, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Your Only Rival

By Brother Barnabas

A passer-by stopped in front of a taxidermist's show window to look at a stuffed owl. He boasted to himself, I can do a better job than that, and I'm no stuffer.

Just then the owl winked an eye, as much as to say, "Young man, you'd better stick to your knitting and not pose as a critic of somebody else's work unless you are sure you can do it better."

You can't improve on nature except within very limited bounds. You can't stuff an owl, but to create an owl is beyond your province.

You can make an egg that will look and taste like hen fruit, but you can't make an egg that will hatch a chick.

You can tell the age of a hen, whether young or old, by the teeth—your teeth. If it's as hard as a stone, it is likely a Plymouth Rock. The magnum opus of a hen is when she lays an egg. She then cackles a cackination and all the barnyard fowl join in a maffick over the achievement.

She really says in hen language that she has done it this time, but feels she will never be able to do it again. However, given time, circumstances and nature's recuperative powers, she will repeat day by day, like party candidates through successive administrations.

Our human psychology is very similar; when we make a coup, bake a superexcellent cake, get a Pulitzer prize, we feel like taking a week off just to celebrate, maybe go to Florida, except for the fact that we can find plenty of nothing to do right here at home.

But there is just as much grace and glory for those of us who plod along the dusty highway as for those who have reached the pinnacle, for as the English put it:

"It ain't the 'eavy 'auling that 'urts the 'orse's 'oo'. It's the 'ammer, 'ammer, 'ammer on the 'ard 'ighway." (Kipling)

The man who rates himself by a table of comparisons with his neighbors is betting on the wrong horse. He would better read Second Corinthians 10:12.

Competition may be the life of trade, but it is not the soul of progress in a universe that is founded on the principle that "each part strengthens and supports the rest."

The old lady had a good word about the devil even, she "admired his patience."

It was never intended that man should have a foe. If any should ever appear he is an intruder, and should be killed with kindness.

The highest and noblest victory is among the contradictory powers within one's own being. He that rules his own spirit is greater than he who takes a city (Proverbs 16:32, p. v.)

Realistically, you have no rival but yourself. There are rivalries and competitors, to be sure, but on a minor scale, and they can be easily resolved.

When you go out to lunch with a friend, there is usually a scramble for the ticket. You compromise by letting him pay the bill.

That does not mean that you are running for office and are coyly soliciting his vote. You can disabuse him of that impression by declaring in advance that you would not accept the nomination, and if elected you would not serve.

If a lot of our "favorite sons" would join William Tecumseh Sherman in that dictum, the coming election would be simplified and business could proceed as usual.

If you call on a young lady, having but a sociable intent, and find her too absorbed in her TV to talk with you, you might as well pass on, she is already engaged.

A friend of mine called up a fair damsel for a date one night. She said, "Why call up, just come on out." "I was afraid I might run into my rival," said he. "You have no rival," said she sweetly, whereupon the bans were soon published, and it was a leap year. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Not all persons are equally gifted or capacitated.

All are architects of Fate. Working in these walls of time.

Some with massive deeds and great, Some with ornaments of rhyme."

Nothing useless is or low; Each thing in it's place is best; And what seems but idle show Strengthens and supports the rest."

A bit of Emersonian wisdom has come down to this generation: "Hitch your wagon to a star." That means, in the vernacular, as I take it, keep your head above the clouds, but your feet upon the ground; couple the ideal with the practical. Set your stakes high, then drive to them in spite of obstacles in the way or means of transportation. Lincoln did that, and so did Washington.

According to the old fable keep your eye upon the star above the well into which you have fallen and it will lift you out.

The sun shines in the day when it's light anyhow; the stars shine at night when the light is needed, says

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman has served notice that Adlai Stevenson must recognize him and the "big city bosses" of the Democratic Party or he will not get the nomination this year.

Mr. Truman, in his "memoirs" in Life Magazine, criticizes Mr. Stevenson severely for failing in the 1952 campaign to "give proper recognition to existing Democratic organizations in the major population centers."

As Mr. Truman owed his rise in politics in Missouri to the boss-rule of the Pendergast organization in Kansas City, it is natural to find him scolding Mr. Stevenson as follows: "By alienating many influential Democratic political leaders at the outset Stevenson may have thought he was attaining full freedom of action. But in reality he needlessly sacrificed basic political backing and perhaps millions in votes. . . . A Democratic candidate for any office will usually fare better in his campaign if he does not throw away organization support without good reason."

Most political observers will be surprised to learn that Adlai Stevenson threw away any support whatsoever in 1952, and that the former President speaks so glibly of the loss of "millions of votes." It is apparent from a reading of the whole article that Mr. Truman is at odds with Mr. Stevenson because somehow the latter didn't fall all over himself to accept all ways the advice of the then functioning leader of the party.

It is apparent also that Mr. Truman is irritated because Mr. Stevenson permitted himself to use the phrase "the mess in Washington." Here is how the former President describes it:

"Stevenson, during an interview in Oregon, quoted a reporter's phrase in answering a question and said that he would clean up 'the mess in Washington.' I wonder dered if he had been taken in by the Republican fraudulent build-up of a few flyspecks on our Washington windows into a big blot or 'mess.'"

Now the truth is Mr. Stevenson didn't give an interview but answered a letter in which the editor of The Oregon Journal—a supporter of Stevenson—had asked what he would do about "the mess in Washington." It was a slip of the pen on Stevenson's part that, in his reply in quoting from the Oregon editor's letter, he forgot to put the words in quotation marks. There is nothing in the reply by Mr. Stevenson, published at that time, which indicates that he concurred in the Republican concept of "the mess in Washington," though he didn't consider it as insignificant as a "flyspeck," either.

Mr. Truman says also that "another mistake by Mr. Stevenson was to allow himself to go on the defensive on the question of so-called Communists in government." But, after all, Mr. Stevenson had to overcome, if he could, the political damage done by the phrase used by Mr. Truman when he called the House Committee's disclosures about Alger Hiss a "red herring." Also, in the 1956 campaign Mr. Stevenson will have to explain away in some fashion Mr. Truman's refusal to tell the American people why, after having been warned by the FBI director about the late Harry Dexter White, he wrote a letter of fulsome praise to the former treasury official within two months of that incident and then a similar letter the next year. It's going to be

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deifen

British physicians have their hands full with a traveling maligner. For almost five years this young man, now in his early 20s, has been popping in and out of hospitals in England, Ireland, and Scotland; he has even crossed the channel and pulled his stunt on Parisian medicos.

This patient usually is brought to a hospital in a dazed condition after collapsing on the street. The nose and ears are gory and tests usually disclose blood in the urine. Doctors R. A. Gawn and E. A. Kaufman of Chelsea wrote about this case in the British Medical Journal of October 29, 1955.

Their report brought numerous letters from physicians in England and Ireland, all telling the same story. At the Chelsea hospital, it was found that the blood around the young man's face was dry and no bleeding points were visible in the ear canals or nasal passage-ways.

But the patient was given the benefit of the doubt and an exhaustive study was made of his blood, kidneys, and intestinal tract. The only positive finding was blood in the urine and the man was diagnosed as a bleeder and given appropriate treatment. Shortly thereafter he started acting up and wandered all over the hospital.

In desperation, the staff decided to remove him to the observation ward. Here he was watched every minute and knew it. Hemorrhaging ceased and within 72 hours he requested a discharge. At that time a diagnosis was made of psychopathic maligner.

This led to an investigation which disclosed that the fellow had been in 29 different hospitals since 1951. All attempts to photograph him had been unsuccessful because when the attempt was made, he would check out of the hospital at once. No one could arrest him because there is no law against maligning.

Where was the blood coming from and why was the young man behaving this way? Drug addiction was suspected because he usually asked for a narcotic to relieve colicky abdominal pain. But he also insisted he was a bleeder and displayed many scars and open cuts on his arms, ankles, hips, and abdomen which he said were due to transfusions given by physicians.

The lesions were not over veins, however, and they were in areas accessible to either of the patient's hands. It became obvious that the man was lying; he was cutting himself in various parts of the body and smearing the blood around his nose and ears. The question arises: Should not this man be institutionalized?

Trevor Gardner Stuns Congressmen With Secret Testimony On Missiles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In testimony so electrifying it stunned Congressmen but so secret only the bare details can be told, missiles expert Trevor Gardner charged that the Defense Department has failed to follow up vital scientific discoveries that could revolutionize air warfare. He warned fervently that the Russians may be pursuing these scientific concepts, thus gaining a military advantage that could spell disaster for the United States.

Gardner has just resigned as Assistant Air Force Secretary in protest against the lagging research program. He was promptly summoned behind closed doors by the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee to explain his stand. For three hours, he talked frankly about the internal conflicts that are holding back military research. Here are highlights that can be safely told:

1. Gardner revealed we have broken through the scientific barrier on new propulsion ideas and aerodynamic concepts that hold a "tremendous promise." These could boost the range, altitude and speed of our planes and missiles, he said—if we are willing to take the financial risk. Yet, for economy reasons, the Defense Department's civilian command has refused to go ahead.

Dollars Ahead Of Safety

2—He charged bluntly that our military planners "are underestimating the Russians." Intelligence reports from behind the Iron Curtain, he claimed, indicate that Soviet scientists are progressing faster on atomic and guided-missile research that we had credited them.

3. He warned that our defenses against enemy attack have been crippled for economy's sake. The minimum needs, outlined in the famous Killian Report, cannot be met under the present Air Force budget, he charged.

4. Gardner objected vigorously to the Defense Department's priority system, which puts equal emphasis on the intercontinental ballistics missile and the medium-range guided-missile. He warned this might mean the Russians get the ICBM first.

5. He charged that the total Air Force budget had been dangerously slashed. The Air Force would need $3 to $4 billion more than has been budgeted for fiscal year 1957, he estimated. He urged an increase of $316,000,000 in the research budget for 1957.

Gardner insisted there was nothing personal in his charges. He still counted Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force Quarles his friends. But he took sharp issue with their judgment. They believe in an orderly, step-by-step research program, he said, whereas he believes in following up scientific break-throughs with an all-out effort.

Gardner charged that Wilson's approach "takes a lot longer and may eventually cost more money." He warned that the research and development program, affecting the security of the country, can't be run "the way you build automobiles."

"Our most precious asset is time," Gardner declared. "I can very well be wrong about the need for more research and development, but I don't think I am. On the other hand, they (Wilson and Quarles) could be wrong. I would rather see me proven wrong, because there is no prize for second place."

Republicans Heckle

Gardner, himself a Republican, was hit by a few hostile questions from Republicans attempting to defend the Administration.

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff told us they were satisfied with the Defense budget," rapped Congressman Errett Scrivner, Kansas Republican.

Gardner waved a secret document which he had sent to Secretary Quarles, requesting more money for research and development.

"General Twining (the Air Force chief) was one of the endorsers of this document," Gardner retorted. "He is the only member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff I am concerned about."

"If you read the fiscal reports, it looks as if research and development funds have been going up each year," Gardner agreed. "But what happened was a major change in bookkeeping. Actually, we received less money last year than the year before. And this year we received less than last year."

Blunt Backtalk

He reminded committee members that last year they, themselves, "arbitrarily cut $18,000,000 off our research and development budget."

"Would you mind striking out the word 'arbitrarily'?" asked Congressman Scrivner.

"Yes, I would mind," Gardner replied bluntly.

Earlier, Chairman George Mahon of Texas had announced he wanted to make clear that the hearing was nonpolitical.

"The committee is not meeting to write an indictment on individuals," he said. "We are deeply concerned about the differences of opinion, and we want to hear both sides. We are especially concerned about this guided-missiles business."

Gardner explained that Wilson had assigned equal priority to the intercontinental and medium-range missiles because he feared Russia would use her 1,500-mile missile to blackmail NATO nations. Wilson wanted to rush development of 1,500-mile missiles of our own and locate them strategically around Europe as a deterrent.

Gardner argued that Soviet supersonic fighter-bombers could hit targets with atomic bombs more effectively than medium-range missiles, thus could blackmail NATO nations without using missiles. In his opinion, he said, the Russians are building a 1,500-mile missile as one step toward the invincible intercontinental missile.

After his testimony, several Congressmen gathered around him and praised him for his patriotism.

Your Only Rival

By Brother Barnabas

A passer-by stopped in front of a taxidermist's show window to look at a stuffed owl. He boasted to himself, I could do a better job than that, and I'm no stuffer.

Just then the owl winked an eye, as much as to say, "Young man, you'd better stick to your knitting and not pose as a critic of somebody else's work unless you are sure you can do it better."

You can't improve on nature except within very limited bounds. You can stuff an owl, but to create an owl is beyond your province.

You can make an egg that will look and taste like hen fruit, but you can't make an egg that will hatch a chick.

You can tell the age of a hen, whether young or old, by the teeth—your teeth. If it's as hard as a stone, it is likely a Plymouth Rock.

The magnum opus of a hen is when she lays an egg. She then cackles a cackination and all the barnyard fowl join in a maffick over the achievement.

She really says in hen language that she has done it this time, but feels she will never be able to do it again. However, given time, circumstances and nature's recuperative powers, she will repeat day by day, like party candidates through successive administrations.

Our human psychology is very similar: when we make a coup, bake a superexcellent cake, get a new baby at the hospital, win a Pulitzer prize, we feel like taking a week off just to celebrate, maybe go to Florida, except for the fact that we can find plenty of nothing to do right here at home.

But there is just as much grace and glory for those of us who plod along the dusty highway as for those who have reached the pinnacle, for as the English put it:

"It ain't the 'eavy 'auling that 'urts the 'orse's 'oof. It's the 'ammer, 'ammer, 'ammer on the 'ard 'ighway."

The man who rates himself by a table of comparisons with his neighbors is betting on the wrong horse. He would better read Second Corinthians 10:12.

Competition may be the life of trade, but it is not the soul of progress in a universe that is founded on the principle that "each part strengthens and supports the rest."

The old lady had a good word about the devil even, she "admired his patience."

It was never intended that man should have a foe. If any should ever appear he is an intruder, and should be killed with kindness.

The highest and noblest victory is among the contradictory powers within one's own being. He that rules his own spirit is greater than he who takes a city (Proverbs 16:32, p. v.)

Realistically, you have no rival but yourself. There are rivalries and competitors, to be sure, but on a minor scale, and they can be easily resolved.

When you go out to lunch with a friend, there is usually a scramble for the ticket. You compromise by letting him pay the bill.

That does not mean that you are running for office and are coyly soliciting his vote. You can disabuse him of that impression by declaring in advance that you would not accept the nomination, and if elected you would not serve.

If a lot of our "favorite sons" would join William Tecumseh Sherman in that dictum, the coming election would be simplified and business could proceed as usual.

If you call on a young lady, having but a sociable intent, and find her too absorbed in her TV to talk with you, you might as well pass on, she is already engaged.

A friend of mine called up a fair damsel for a date one night. She said, "Why call up, just come on out." "I was afraid I might run into my rival," said he. "You have no rival," said she sweetly, whereupon the bans were soon published, and it was a leap year. A word to the wise is sufficient.

A bit of Emersonian wisdom has come down to this generation: "Hitch your wagon to a star." That means, in the vernacular, as I take it, keep your head above the clouds, but your feet upon the ground; couple the ideal with the practical. Set your stakes high, then drive to them in spite of obstacles in the way or means of transportation. Lincoln did that, and so did Washington.

According to the old fable keep your eye upon the star above the well into which you have fallen and it will lift you out.

Fort Hill High School's scrappy Sentinels earned the right to battle Allegany in the Class 'A' basketball championship by upsetting their crosstown rivals last night on the Fort Hill court before a gathering of 1,300 fans. The score was 69-63.

By capturing last night's game Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation tied the Campers at 3-1 in the Class "A" race, necessitating a playoff game to determine the county's representative for the playoff are Feb. 28 or March 6. The site for the game was not announced.

Although the Hilltoppers held leads as high as 13 points on several occasions, the game was not "in the bag" until the final minutes of play.

With approximately 1:30 remaining in the third period, Rodney Breedlove sank a two-pointer to give the Shawmen the lead. Midway in the final period, Clarence "Pooch" Lewis meshed two foul shots to send the Sentinels to the fore at 56-55. Fort Hill maintained the lead, freezing the ball for the last minute and a half to win their ninth out of 19 ball games which snapped Allegany's 6-game victory skein.

Lewis emerged as the game's high scorer with 22 points. He was aided by Galen McGregor who tallied 17 and Ed Parsons and Ron Detwiler with 14 each.

Ken Johnson was the "big gun" for Allegany with 19 markers. Breedlove collected 13 and Jim Deremer 12.

Last night's contest marked the close of the W.M.I. League season for both teams. Allegany won the championship with an 8-2 record. The Campers also lead in the city championship race with a 2-1 record. LaSalle, 1-1 and Fort Hill 1-2. LaSalle hosts Fort Hill, February 24, and LaSalle plays at Allegany March 2.

Valley Downs Bruce
Valley High School, county Class "B" champions, finished their W.M.I. League season in the runner-up spot with a 7-3 record by sweeping its series with Bruce High School, taking the final game last night at Westernport by the score of 67-55.

Bruce jumped off to a 15-9 lead in the first quarter but the Black Knights held a 31-27 advantage at halftime and led 48-35 when the third period ended.

Ronald Young and Robert "Coke" Robertson headed the VHS offense with 26 and 20 points. Gene Dawson headed the Bruce scorers with 21 points. He needed 33 to tie the league's all-time season record of 235 set by Bob Kirk of Barton three years ago and finished the campaign with 223.

Bruce High's Jayvees beat Valley in the opening game, 53-48.

Mt. Savage Cops Final
Mt. Savage High School's five players scored in double figures as Coach Johnny Thomas' Indians closed out their W.M.I. season with a 7-54 decision over Beall at Mt. Savage.

Charley Luman topped the victors with 18 points while George Bishields and Roy Holt garnered 16 each. Nick Beeman was Beall's leading scorer with nine field goals and 23 markers.

Waites, Beall center, and Jim Thompson, Beall forward, fouled out.

Beall's junior varsity quint defeated Mt. Savage in the preliminary game, 44-33.

Fullmer Gets Nod Over Gil Turner
NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, kept the pressure on sharply conditioned Gil Turner tonight to win a split decision in a rousing 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Fullmer weighed 157½, Turner 151½.

The decision hung on a single point in the scoring of Judge Leo Birnbaum who had it 5-5 in rounds, but gave Fullmer a 6-5 edge in points. Referee Petey Della found or Fullmer 5-3-2 but Judge Harold Barnes saw it 6-3-1 for Turner. The Associated Press had Turner out front 6-4.

Nashua Rated 1-2 Choice in Widener 'Cap'

Carries 127 Pounds In $129,800 Event

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—Nashua makes his debut as a 4-year-old in tomorrow's $129,800 Widener Handicap at Hialeah and is 1 to 2 favorite to whip eight others in the mile and a quarter feature.

Nashua will carry top weight of 127 pounds, most of it his regular rider, Eddie Arcaro, and will be giving away from 5 to 22 pounds of his rivals—a band of seasoned campaigners.

Chief opposition is expected from the powerful entry of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast and Find, rated 7 to 2 in the early line. Social Outcast will carry 121 pounds, including jockey Eric Guerin, while Find goes under 114 pounds with Ted Atkinson up.

Third choice probably will be Brookmeade Stable's Sailor, under 119 pounds with Willie Hartack, last year's 5 champion jockey.

Next comes Hasty House Farm's double entry of Sea O Erin, who hedges the mud, and Prince Nor. Hedy Woodhouse, who was second four times in the Widener, will ride Sea O Erin, and John Adams, the balding grandfather, has the mount on Prince Nor.

El Chama, the Venezuelan champion, is assigned equal weight with Social Outcast of 121 pounds and will be ridden by his regular jockey, Raul Bustamante. Trainer Jack Labadie said Nashua can do anything better than his horse and he is aiming for second money of $20,000.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Man of Destiny gets in with 105 pounds. Steve Brooks riding.

A crowd of approximately 35,000 is expected for the feature and post time is 5:15 p.m. (EST). The race will be broadcast and televised nationally by NBC and for the first time in its 19-year-history will be carried on two South American networks.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Hands Across The Table

One of the things you notice about Patrice Munsel is the graceful way she uses her hands. When remarked about it, she told me that an old Italian teacher emphasized how important the movement of the hands is to an opera star. This is true not only for one who performs but every woman who wishes to be charming. One moves the hands more often than any other part of the body. So it is easy to see how important it is that they be graceful hands.

When hands move, they must be calm and relaxed to be beautiful. Avoid unnecessary little mannerisms and use the hands only when necessary. Commercial photographers are constantly looking for lovely photogenic hands; they are difficult to find.

If you are a little jittery or upset before making a speech, or even meeting a group of people you don't know too well, here is a tip. Squeeze your hands together lightly for a minute or two. This will release the tension, and you'll be less nervous.

To acquire graceful movement, here is a suggestion that has helped a number of women. Stand with your arms hanging relaxed at your sides, palms turned in. Start shaking your fingers at the tips, slowly, not too fast. Continue shaking motion upward through the fingers to the wrists, then up arms as far as elbows and finally to the shoulders, so entire arm is in motion. Do this for five minutes a day. You will have hand beauty and expressiveness.

YOUR POSTURE

Achieve grace of the highest degree—make yours the posture ideal—improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes. Read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy, write to: Secrets of Charm, in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Hands Across The Table

One of the things you notice about Patrice Munsel is the graceful way she uses her hands. When remarked about it, she told me that an old Italian teacher emphasized how important the movement of the hands is to an opera star. This is true not only for one who performs but every woman who wishes to be charming. One moves the hands more often than any other part of the body. So it is easy to see how important it is that they be graceful hands.

When hands move, they must be calm and relaxed to be beautiful. Avoid unnecessary little mannerisms and use the hands only when necessary. Commercial photographers are constantly looking for lovely photogenic hands; they are difficult to find.

If you are a little jittery or upset before making a speech, or even meeting a group of people you don't know too well, here is a tip. Squeeze your hands together lightly for a minute or two. This will release the tension, and you'll be less nervous.

To acquire graceful movement, here is a suggestion that has helped a number of women. Stand with your arms hanging relaxed at your sides, palms turned in. Start shaking your fingers at the tips slowly, not too fast. Continue shaking motion upward through the fingers to the wrists, then up arms as far as elbows and finally to the shoulders, so entire arm is in motion. Do this for five minutes a day. You will have hand beauty and expressiveness.

YOUR POSTURE

Achieve grace of the highest degree—make yours the posture ideal—improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes. Read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A cryptogram is a message written in code. Each day the code letters are different.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

GETTING A COUNT

DECLARER should "get a count on the hand" whenever possible, and the fact that one opponent may have announced a long suit almost always makes this count-getting process much easier.

Let's apply this generality to a clear-cut case:

A glance at the North-South hands discloses that it would have been considerably more discreet to double seven hearts than to try for seven spades, but if South had taken advantage of a certain bit of luck, he could have laughed at this observation.

Anaconda's raise of 3 cents in copper prices stimulated the stock which rose 2 1/2 at 72.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line was one of the few natural gas stocks to lose much ground, closing off 3/4 at 77 1/2. Ford Motor stock was quoted at 62 1/2 bid 62 3/4 asked in over the counter trading compared with yesterday's late bid of 61 1/2.

McKay To Ask Congress For Park, Not Parkway

SECRETARY MCKAY
Park, Not Parkway

Rep. Hyde Still Confident Road Will Be Built

Congress will be asked soon to authorize a park instead of a parkway along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay said last night.

The announcement was made in a speech before the Maryland Press Association in Baltimore, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Informed of the plan announced by McKay, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde said from Washington:

"Plans for a park along the C & O Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland do not necessarily mean that there cannot be a parkway between Hancock and Cumberland. "Everyone concerned knows how badly we need a new road from Hancock to Cumberland and I have every confidence I will get it."

Close's Office Again To Sell License Plates

As soon as automobile owners get their applications for new Maryland license plates they may obtain their new tags from the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the County Court House.

W. Dana Rudy, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles, announced in Baltimore earlier this week that some one million applications will be mailed out next week.

Because of a change in law approved by the General Assembly last year, the 15-cent fee collected with each set of tags sold at Close's office will go to the county commissioners. Expenses for handling the tags will be paid from these fees and Close will act as the county commissioners' agent. Those fees formerly remained in the collector's office.

The policy of the State Department of Motor Vehicles prohibits the issuance of special privilege licenses. In accordance with this policy, special privilege license numbers will be discontinued in Allegany County. To eliminate discrimination in previous practices, license plates will be sold consecutively as applications are received, Close said.

Within the past year some 20,184 sets of plates were issued from the collector's office at the Court House. Included were 17,795 for automobiles and 2,389 for privately-owned trucks.

This year Close has received all of the license plates in the GA and GB series from 1001 to 9999. There will be green numbers on white backgrounds. If the sale this year matches the record of a year ago, more than the two series will be needed.

House Prepares Port Bill For Final Action

Corporate Tax Plan Is Adopted

By CHARLES PUFFENBARGER

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—A bill proposing an increase in the corporate income tax to finance expansion and promotion of the Port of Baltimore by a public authority moved up to a final vote in the House today.

Not a single objection was raised to the measure as it sailed through the Ways and Means Committee this morning and was adopted on the House floor.

If it can be printed in time, the measure will come up for its final House test tomorrow. A similar measure is being held up by the Senate Finance Committee and won't be brought out unless the House bill runs into a roadblock. In other actions the House enacted, without discussion, a Senate bill to postpone for the third time scheduled increases in the cost of automobile license tags. The measure, sponsored by Sens. Nock (D-Wicomico), Malkus (D-Dorchester) and Friend (R-Garrett) will delay until the spring of 1958 the increases of $5 and $7 in the cost of auto tags, if signed by the governor.

Seeks Complete Repeal
Another Senate bill has been introduced to repeal completely the scheduled increases which were first delayed last year and then again on the opening day of this session.

Gov. McKeldin at first objected to the two delays, but later reversed his position when it was proven the State Roads Commission had sufficient funds for its 12-year road building program without the additional revenues.

A measure to impose a 2 cents pack tax on cigarettes was voted down by the Ways and Means Committee. Del. Culotta (R-Balto) had introduced the measure to finance increased State spending of 5 million dollars a year for school construction the Legislature enacted earlier for next year.

The port bill would create a state port authority to take over control of the sprawling port of Baltimore. Its operations, estimated to cost about 2 million dollars a year, would be financed by hiking the corporate income tax from 4 1/2 to 5 percent. The corporate tax was raised from 4 to 4 1/2 percent only last year.

The public authority would be controlled by a five-member commission appointed by the governor. One each would come from lists of five submitted by Baltimore and Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties. Another would be named from the Eastern Shore, one from another section of the Western Shore.

$15 Million In Bonds
It would float 15 million dollars in bonds to take over some 6 million dollars in debts on facilities Baltimore would turn over to it, to finance construction of a general cargo pier at about 6 million dollars, and to promote use of the port.

Apparently the port bill has hurdled its most serious obstacle in the House.

But Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) has made threats against enactment of the measure.

A constant foe of the measure during its year of planning, Phipps said he is preparing amendments to have the shippers and railroads, whom he said will benefit the most from the bill, finance it.

In the Senate, a bill calling for the General Assembly to meet 60 days each year came up for preliminary approval but was deferred until Monday night.

Sen. Didomenico (D-Balto 2d) moved to have the measure discussed in executive session, but was told by Sen. President Goldstein (D-Calvert) this would be unprecedented.

The move was voted down, but the senators went behind closed doors, anyway, on the motion of Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County) a few moments later.

They were believed to have discussed a proposal that the 60-day session bill be amended to include higher salaries for lawmakers, who now make $1,800 a year. It was understood the proposal was voted down.

State Gives $1,839 Fund For School

Allegany County's Board of Education has received a final payment of $1,839 from the State of Maryland from the General Public School Assistance Loan of 1949.

D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools in charge of finance and research, submitted a letter yesterday to the Board of County Commissioners explaining that in compliance with an agreement signed by the commissioners last August 19, the State Board of Public Works has authorized the $1,839 payment to this county.

That $1,839 was earmarked to help slightly in the payment for the new $477,000 Parkside Elementary School in LaVale.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said that under terms of the General Public School Assistance Loan of 1949 Allegany County was eligible for $927,180 of the $20,000,000 given to the various subdivisions to assist in payment for school construction.

Allegany County received $925,341 from the state funds to assist with payments for the construction of the Mt. Savage School and the Valley High School at LaCorney, the county applied for it to help pay for the Parkside School. On the other two projects, the county received approximately $1 in state funds for each $3 spent by the county.

Local Police May Organize Fraternal Unit

City police have indicated an interest in the organization of a local lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police.

A notice has been posted on the bulletin board at Police Headquarters and members of the force indicate they would be interested in having Peter J. Yuenling, of Burlington, N. J., national trustee of the fraternal order, come to Cumberland and discuss the organization.

Local lodges, according to a pamphlet sent here from national headquarters in Philadelphia, conduct their own affairs, elect their own officers and draft a constitution and by-laws in conformity with state and national by-laws.

Activities of the group would be unlimited. Most lodges provide for a death benefit and a sick benefit where no sick leave is allowed by a police department.

Many local lodges have taken their place with other fraternal groups in the community and do their share in all local functions.

The local lodge is the contact between its members and city officials whenever questions affecting the welfare of the police may arise.

C&A Witnesses To Testify In Rate Hike Case

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 17.—Witnesses for Cumberland and Allegany Gas Co. will be subject to cross-examination here March 22 when hearing of the utility's petition for higher rates is resumed.

The Public Service Commission said that testimony by its engineering and accounting staffs would be offered at the same time. Protestants also will have an opportunity to present evidence.

C. and A. has asked the PSC for higher rates designed to provide an estimated $764,680 in additional annual revenue from about 16,600 customers in 10 northeastern West Virginia counties.

It already has placed the higher charges in effect under bond set by the PSC, and subject to any refunds which might be necessary in view of the final order of the commission.

Vice President C. A. Massa of the company testified at an earlier hearing that the proposed boosts would amount to about 50 per cent for the firm's residential and commercial customers.

Hoover Commission Military Transportation Setup Costly, Wasteful

(This is the second in a series of five articles concerning recommendations of the Second Hoover Commission. They are being written from outlines prepared by members of a Cumberland Junior Association Commerce committee which has been studying the commission's recommendations.)

By ALBERT D. DARBY, JR.
News Staff Writer

Some 25,000 pounds of cement were flown to Bermuda and 13,000 pounds of furniture was flown from Bermuda to the United States in 1954 and an Air Force band was flown from the United States to Bermuda once a month to act as a "morale booster."

These examples of waste and poor management were cited in the Second Hoover Commission's report on transportation. This report stressed that other media of transportation such as ships or privately-owned transportation facilities would have been much less expensive.

The commission's investigation of transportation, which in fiscal year 1952-53 cost the federal government about $3 billion, disclosed lack of coordination, duplication and inadequately trained personnel, especially in the Defense Department.

Some 21 recommendations were made by the commission. They would (1) eliminate waste and inefficiency in transporting military personnel, their household goods and automobiles; (2) eliminate duplication and reduce Defense Department competition with private shipping and commercial airlines and (3) modernize the military transportation system by establishing the office of Director of Transportation under the Secretary of Defense. Most of the recommendations could be put into effect by executive action.

Thirteen bills to implement these recommendations were introduced in Congress last year but none had been enacted into law when the current session started. The commission estimates a $150 million saving each year to the taxpayers if these proposals were accepted.

Among other fields which the Second Hoover Commission investigated were legal services and procedure, surplus property and real property management.

A lack of coordination of legal staffs in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government and various other complex problems as a result of increased delegation of authority by Congress to administrative agencies were found by the commission.

As an example it was cited that there are about 5,300 attorneys in 54 departments of the Executive Branch in addition to 1,300 civilian attorneys and 3,100 military personnel performing legal duties in the Defense Department.

About 9,000 individuals are responsible for furnishing legal advice at every level of the Executive Branch and only 1,773 are employed in the Department of Justice.

There were 52 recommendations concerning legal services, most of which require legislative action. Fifteen bills were introduced in Congress last year to implement the recommendations but none had been enacted into law when the present session began last month. The real importance of these proposals is to bring about more efficient practices in conformity with the principles of constitutional government and to protect the constitutional separation of powers provision. The major plan was the establishment of an Administrative Court of the U. S. with three sections, tax, trade and labor.

Concerning surplus property the Second Hoover Commission found that as of June 30, 1954, there was $66 billion worth of personal property in military warehouses and about $48 1/2 billion in other personal property and about $40 billion in real property. These $155 billion in assets do not include surplus farm commodities and stockpiles of strategic materials.

Some 23 recommendations were made designed to control the acquisition and improve the management of all government property, to increase utilization of excess property and eliminate defects in the donation program and to maintain effective control of surplus disposal. A one per cent improvement in the financial return on the sale of surplus property would mean $20 million a year to the taxpayers.

The commission found concerning real property management that the Federal Government owns 838 million acres of land and two one-half billion square feet of floor space, equivalent to 1,250 Empire State Buildings, and also has an annual rental bill of over $107 million. There is no provision for unified management of real property. The government does not need all the real property it now holds and it does not make good use of its holdings, the commission declared.

Thirteen recommendations were advanced by the commission on this particular report. One would place responsibility for efficient and economical management of real property with the General Services Administration. This holding of excess property by the Federal Government raises state and local taxes because this federal property cannot be taxed by the smaller units of government. Therefore the rate on remaining taxable property must be raised.

Agreement Reached On Water Supply
A plan for getting a satisfactory water supply for the Braddock Farms section was reached last night at a meeting of a committee representing the 50 families and the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

He said another meeting will be called early next week.

Keegan Answers Criticism By Juvenile Judge

Says Quick Action Often Is Needed

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan last night issued a statement in answer to recent criticism of the Police Department by Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron.

Keegan's statement follows: "I have read within recent weeks of two attacks made by Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron on the City of Cumberland Police Department, dealing with the methods employed by personnel of the Department concerning the arrest of juvenile delinquents.

"Our Department invites constructive criticism, and we feel that there is always room for improvement in any organization which endeavors to keep itself abreast of changing times. However, we do not believe that the vociferousness of Magistrate Baron's attacks are at all justified, and we believe that the impression which his remarks create in the minds of conscientious citizens is unfair to the Police Department.

"This Department has an excellent record in its dealing with the problem of juvenile delinquency, which, fortunately, has never gotten out of hand in Cumberland, and we do not like to see our program undermined by people on whom does not rest the immediate burden of law enforcement.

"In the last case concerning the arrest of a thirteen year old juvenile delinquent and the questioning of the delinquent at his home at 1 o'clock in the morning, and concerning which Magistrate Baron was very caustic, we feel that the public should know that in this instance the father of the boy had upon at least one occasion been arrested for contributing to the delinquency of his own children, that the particular boy in question had been arrested some five times, and in the words of Magistrate Baron himself, was a "bad boy," that three hours before the arrest the young boy had broken into a business establishment and that in such matters it is often necessary for the police to act quickly if they are to solve the crime.

"The Police Department exists for the protection of all citizens. There are a number of small business firms in the community who rely on the vigilance of the Police Department for protection during the hours of darkness.

"Fortunately, the number of juvenile delinquents who engage in breaking and entering, which is a serious crime and leads to even more serious crimes, are exceptionally few; however, these youths and their families, who are often more delinquent in their duties than the boys, must respect the Cumberland Police Department and realize that it intends to act swiftly and efficiently to break up night-time breaking and entering. Only last year we experienced in Cumberland a series of these crimes, and it is necessary to break up such things as quickly as possible.

"The Cumberland Police Department, through its Police Boys' Club and its general patience and understanding towards juveniles, has repeatedly shown that it is not an organization which believes in what Magistrate Baron calls "police state methods." We are trying to do a job just as Magistrate Baron is, and we feel that in view of the criticism leveled towards the Department by Magistrate Baron, it was incumbent upon the Department to give its version of the situation to the public.

"Chief Flynn has recently instructed all police officers to consult the State's Attorney's Office before obtaining warrants, except in emergency situations. In the past we have not done this in juvenile cases or motor vehicle cases, as we did not want to impose upon the State's Attorney's time concerning matters not involving serious offenses and which were traditionally handled by the Department. However, in an effort to show our willingness to try every means of keeping the Department's relations with the public at a high level, we are embarking on this program to see how it works out.

"Above all, I wish to assure the public that although the problem of juvenile delinquency and how to cope with it is always an important problem, yet the problem of juvenile delinquency itself, fortunately, in the City of Cumberland is not critical."

Close's Office Again To Sell License Plates

As soon as automobile owners get their applications for new Maryland license plates they may obtain their new tags from the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the County Court House.

W. Dana Rudy, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles, announced in Baltimore earlier this week that some one million applications will be mailed out next week.

Because of a change in law approved by the General Assembly last year, the 15-cent fee collected with each set of tags sold at Close's office will go to the county commissioners. Rep. Hyde Still Confident Road Will Be Built

Congress will be asked soon to authorize a park instead of a parkway along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay said last night.

The announcement was made in a speech before the Maryland Press Association in Baltimore, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Informed of the plan announced by McKay, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde said from Washington:

"Plans for a park along the C & O Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland do not necessarily mean that there cannot be a parkway between Hancock and Cumberland."

"Everyone concerned knows how badly we need a new road from Hancock to Cumberland and I have every confidence I will get it."

Are For Parkway

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, original sponsor of the plan to build a water-level scenic highway along the route of the historic canal, was on a speaking tour and was not available immediately for comment.

Both Senator Beall and Rep. Hyde have held conferences with Secretary McKay and Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service.

Senator Beall reported last week McKay "did not close the door" on the parkway project and Rep. Hyde reported after his conference he was encouraged about getting the Hancock-Cumberland road under way.

Senator John Marshall Butler wrote Mayor Roy W. Eves he was exploring the matter with the Interior Department and was doing all in his power in behalf of seeing the parkway became a reality.

Approves Park Plan

McKay said:

"As many of you know, I gave my approval last month to a plan evolved by the National Park Service which would develop the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland as a scenic and historic park instead of as a parkway. The area below Seneca Creek in the proposed Chesapeake and Ohio National Historical Park would continue to be administered as a part of the National Capital Parks system, just as it is today."

He said a special committee recommended that the historical park development "would be more in keeping with the scenic beauty and historic significance of the area. The director of the National Park Service agreed with the committee and I could reach no other conclusion after studying all the facts," he said.

Plan Legislation

McKay said "recommendations for legislation to put this plan into effect are now being prepared and should be presented to the Congress in the very near future."

The C. and O. Canal park at one point will merge with the Harper's Ferry National Monument, McKay said, adding "our development plans cannot proceed as they should until the remaining acreage on historic Maryland Heights is acquired."

For fiscal '57, $80,000 has been asked for repairs to existing structures along the C & O canal between Great Falls and Cumberland.

Explains Decision

McKay's announcement was mirrored in a letter to State Senator Charles M. See from Wesley A. D'Ewart, assistant Secretary of the Interior.

Senator See had asked the Interior Department to follow the original intent of Congress when it allotted funds for the purchase of the B&O Canal property.

D'Ewart said most of the funds were used for the purchase of about 4,700 acres of canal property now owned by the government and the rest used to rehabilitate the canal between Georgetown and Seneca Creek. He added:

"Throughout the years that the Canal property has been administered by the Park Service, there has been a growing realization on the part of the public and the administering agency that the Canal right-of-way and bordering lands along the Potomac River offer intriguing and perhaps unsurpassed opportunities for the preservation and public use of a unique combination of outdoor recreation resources that are of outstanding scenic, scientific and historic interest."

Plan Is Studied

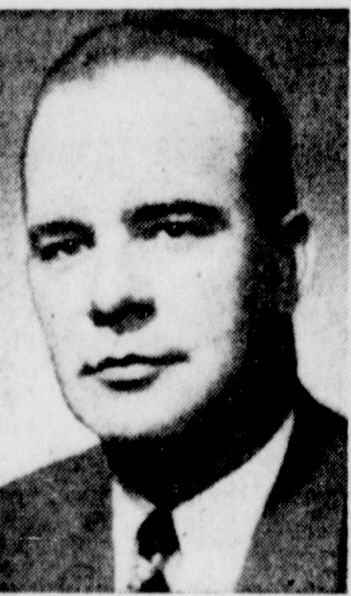

"It has become increasingly evident that construction of the proposed parkway would result in the destruction of so much of the intimate character of the canal-river strip that the resulting area would no longer be of national significance."

"We considered it essential, therefore, that the entire question as to what would constitute the best program for development and use of the canal be restudied. You are aware that these further studies were conducted in 1955 and that the present decision to forego construction of the parkway and emphasize recreational historical development of the canal-river strip is the result of these studies."

"This department expects soon to propose legislative measures in Congress that will enable it to carry out the program as now visualized."

Episcopalians Plan Quiet Day For Youths

Rev. Peyton G. Craighill, chairman of the Youth Division of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, will lead the young churchmen of the Episcopal Allegany Assembly at a Quiet Day beginning this morning at Holy Cross Church on Virginia Avenue.

Rev. Craighill spent his youth in China, where his father, Rt. Rev. Lloyd R. Craighill, D. D., was the Episcopal missionary bishop of Anking on the Yangtze in the interior. The Craighills were forced by the Chinese to leave in 1949.

The younger Craighill, who is curate at the Church of the Redeemer in Baltimore, is a graduate of Yale University and the Virginia Episcopal Theological Seminary. He was appointed to the Youth Division chairmanship by Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D. D., bishop of Maryland.

The Lenten Quiet Day begins at 10:30 a. m. with a celebration of the Holy Communion by Rev. David C. Street, vicar of Holy Cross and St. Philip's and chaplain of the Allegany Assembly. At 11:15 a. m. the Youth Division chairman will begin a Bible study and at 11:45 a. m. the first meditation starts. Luncheon will be served at 1 p. m., followed by second meditation at 2 p. m. and closing prayers at 2:30 p. m., 10 minutes before adjournment.

Young churchmen from nine churches are expected. They will come from Emmanuel, Holy Cross and St. Philip's, Cumberland; St. George's, Mt. Savage; St. John's, Frostburg; St. Peter's, Lonaconing; St. James, Westernport; St. Stephen's, Romney, W. Va.; and Emmanuel, Keyser, W. Va. Luncheon will be served by the Women's Guild of Holy Cross with help from St. George's, Mt. Savage. The Episcopal priests of the area will attend.

Force Main Report Slated

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday that Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the construction of the sewage treatment plant, will present a report on the route of the plant's force main to the Mayor and Council soon.

A decision on the route of the force main, through which sewage will be forced from the Everts Creek pumping station to the plant, has been delayed while plans for the Industrial Boulevard route and the B & O yard expansion program were completed.

He was asked to make a study of the costs of the line paralleling the Industrial Highway and along the C & O Canal. Original plans called for the line to be laid on the shoulder along the boulevard.

Regester and his staff spent yesterday studying the problem.

He conferred with Mayor Eves, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum yesterday afternoon.

Also discussed, Mayor Eves said, were current work on modernization of the filter plant at Lake Gordon and fluoridating equipment for the plant.

Members of the Kiwanis Club will also attend the meeting in place of their regular session next week.

Blaze Is Checked At Local Cleaners

Firemen from East Side station yesterday morning checked a blaze at Sullivan's Cleaners at 507 Deatur Street.

A lighted match, being used to locate some clothes in a closet, set some papers and rags ablaze, filling the premises with smoke. The fire was out on arrival and firemen ventilated the building. The call was received at 10:15 a. m.

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

House Prepares Port Bill For Final Action

Corporate Tax Plan Is Adopted

By CHARLES PUFFENBARGER

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 17 (AP)—A bill proposing an increase in the corporate income tax to finance expansion and promotion of the Port of Baltimore by a public authority moved up to a final vote in the House today.

Not a single objection was raised to the measure as it sailed through the Ways and Means Committee this morning and was adopted on the House floor.

If it can be printed in time, the measure will come up for its final House test tomorrow. A similar measure is being held up by the Senate Finance Committee, and won't be brought out unless the House bill runs into a roadblock.

In other actions the House enacted, without discussion, a Senate bill to postpone for the third time scheduled increases in the cost of automobile license tags. The measure, sponsored by Sens. Nock (D-Wicomico), Mulkus (D-Dorchester) and Friend (R-Garrett) will delay until the spring of 1958 the increases of $5 and $7 in the cost of auto tags, if signed by the governor.

Seeks Complete Repeal

Another Senate bill has been introduced to repeal completely the scheduled increases which were first delayed last year and then again on the opening day of this session.

Gov. McKeldin at first objected to the two delays, but later reversed his position when it was proven the State Roads Commission had sufficient funds for its 12-year road building program without the additional revenues.

A measure to impose a 2 cents a pack tax on cigarettes was voted down by the Ways and Means Committee. Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3d) had introduced the measure to finance increased State spending of 5 million dollars a year for school construction the Legislature enacted earlier for next year.

The port bill would create a state port authority to take over control of the sprawling port of Baltimore. Its operations, estimated to cost about 2 million dollars a year, would be financed by hiking the corporate income tax from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent. The corporate tax was raised from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent last year.

The public authority would be controlled by a five-member commission appointed by the governor. One each would come from lists of five submitted by Baltimore and Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties. Another would be named from the Eastern Shore, one from another section of the Western Shore.

$15 Million In Bonds

It would float 15 million dollars in bonds to cover some 6 million dollars in debts on facilities Baltimore would turn over to it to finance construction of a general cargo pier at about 6 million dollars, and to promote use of the port.

Apparently the port bill has hurdled its most serious obstacle in the House.

But Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) has made threats against enactment of the measure.

A constant foe of the measure during its year of planning, Phipps said he is preparing amendments to have the shippers and railroads, whom he said will benefit the most from the bill, finance it.

In the Senate, a bill calling for the General Assembly to meet 60 days each year came up for preliminary approval but was deferred until Monday night.

Sen. Didomenico (D-Balto 2d) moved to have the measure discussed in executive session, but was told by Sen. President Goldstein (D-Calvert) this would be unprecedented.

The move was voted down, but the senators went behind closed doors, anyway, on the motion of Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County) a few moments later.

They were believed to have discussed a proposal that the 60-day session bill be amended to include higher salaries for lawmakers, who now make $1,800 a year. It was understood the proposal was voted down.

Sears Roebuck Employees Share Company's Profits

Sharing in their company's successful year, 48 employees of the Sears, Roebuck and Company profit sharing fund in the local store learned Thursday that their investment in the fund now amounts to $85,295.

This figure was announced by C. W. Seasholtz, local Sears manager, at a meeting of fund members. At this meeting the employees received their 1955 statements showing the extent to which they shared in the company's profits last year and the value of their individual accounts.

The local members have 1,814 shares of Sears stock and a cash balance of $19,991 to their credit in the fund, Seasholtz explained. Taking the year-end market value of $36 per share for the Sears stock and adding the cash and miscellaneous investments brings the group's total investment to $85,295.

Membership in the Savings and Profit Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Company Employees is open to all regular employees with one year of service and numbers more than 125,000 members throughout the nation.

State Gives $1,839 Fund For School

Allegany County's Board of Education has received a final payment of $1,839 from the State of Maryland from the General Public School Assistance Loan of 1949.

D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools in charge of finance and research, submitted a letter yesterday to the Board of County Commissioners explaining that in compliance with an agreement signed by the commissioners last August 19, the State Board of Public Works has authorized the $1,839 payment to this county.

That $1,839 was earmarked to help slightly in the payment for the new $477,000 Parkside Elementary School in LaVale.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said that under terms of the General Public School Assistance Loan of 1949 Allegany County was eligible for $927,180 of the $20,000,000 given to the various subdivisions to assist in payment for school construction.

Allegany County received $925,341 from the state funds to assist with payments for the construction of the Mt. Savage School and the Valley High School at Lonaconing. To obtain the additional $1,839, the county applied for it to help pay for the Parkside School. On the other two projects, the county received approximately $1 in state funds for each $3 spent by the county.

Local Police May Organize Fraternal Unit

City police have indicated an interest in the organization of a local lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police.

A notice has been posted on the bulletin board at Police Headquarters and members of the force indicate they would be interested in having Peter J. Yuengling, of Burlington, N. J., national trustee of the fraternal order, come to Cumberland and discuss the organization.

Local lodges, according to a pamphlet sent here from national headquarters in Philadelphia, conduct their own affairs, elect their own officers and draft a constitution and by-laws in conformity with state and national by-laws.

Activities of the group would be unlimited. Most lodges provide for a death benefit and a sick benefit where no sick leave is allowed by a police department.

Many local lodges have taken their place with other fraternal groups in the community and do their share in all local functions. The local lodge is the contact between its members and city officials whenever questions affecting the welfare of the police may arise.

C&A Witnesses To Testify In Rate Hike Case

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 17 (AP)—Witnesses for Cumberland and Allegany Gas Co. will be subject to cross-examination here March 22 when hearing of the utility's petition for higher rates is resumed.

The Public Service Commission said that testimony by its engineering and accounting staffs would be offered at the same time. Protestants also will have an opportunity to present evidence.

C. and A. has asked the PSC for higher rates designed to provide an estimated $764,680 in additional annual revenue from about 16,600 customers in 10 northeastern West Virginia counties.

It already has placed the higher charges in effect under bond set by the PSC, and subject to any refunds which might be necessary in view of the final order of the commission.

Vice President C. A. Massa of the company testified at an earlier hearing that the proposed boosts would amount to about 50 per cent for the firm's residential and commercial customers.

Hoover Commission

Military Transportation Setup Costly, Wasteful

(This is the second in a series of five articles concerning recommendations of the Second Hoover Commission. They are being written from outlines prepared by members of a Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce committee which has been studying the commission's recommendations.)

By ALBERT D. DABRY, JR.

Some 25,000 pounds of cement were flown to Bermuda and 13,000 pounds of furniture was flown from Bermuda to the United States in 1954 and an Air Force band was flown from the United States to Bermuda once a month to act as a "morale booster."

These examples of waste and the Second Hoover Commission's report on transportation. This report stressed that other media of transportation such as ships or privately-owned transportation facilities would have been much less expensive.

The commission's investigation of transportation, which in fiscal year 1952-53 cost the federal government about $3 billion, disclosed lack of coordination, duplication and inadequately trained personnel, especially in the Defense Department.

Some 21 recommendations concerning transportation were made by the commission. They would (1) eliminate waste and inefficiency in transporting military personnel, their household goods and automobiles; (2) eliminate duplication and reduce Defense Department competition with private shipping and commercial airlines and (3) modernize the military transportation system by establishing the office of Director of Transportation under the Secretary of Defense. Most of the recommendations could be put into effect by executive action.

Thirteen bills to implement these recommendations were introduced in Congress last year but none had been enacted into law when the current session started. The commission estimates a $150 million saving each year to the taxpayers if these proposals were accepted.

Among other fields which the Second Hoover Commission investigated were legal services and procedure, surplus property and real property management.

A lack of coordination of legal staffs in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government and various other complex problems as a result of increased delegation of authority by Congress to administrative agencies were found by the commission.

As an example it was cited that there are about 5,300 attorney positions in 54 departments of the Executive Branch in addition to 1,300 civilian attorneys and 3,100 military personnel performing legal duties in the Defense Department.

About 9,000 individuals are responsible for furnishing legal advice at every level of the Executive Branch and only 1,773 are employed in the Department of Justice.

There were 32 recommendations concerning legal services, most of which require legislative action. Fifteen bills were introduced in Congress last year to implement the recommendations but none had been enacted into law when the present session began last month. The real importance of these proposals is to bring about more efficient practices in conformity with the principles of constitutional government and to protect the constitutional separation of powers provision. The major plan was the establishment of an Administrative Court of the U. S. with three sections, tax, trade and labor.

Concerning surplus property the Second Hoover Commission found that as of June 30, 1954, there was $66 billion worth of personal property in military warehouses and about $48 1/2 billion in other personal property and about $40 billion in real property. These $155 billion in assets do not include surplus farm commodities and stockpiles of strategic materials.

Some 23 recommendations were made designed to control the acquisition and improve the management of all government property, to increase utilization of excess property and eliminate defects in the donation program and to maintain effective control of surplus disposal. A one per cent improvement in the financial return on the sale of surplus property would mean $20 million a year to the taxpayers.

The commission found concerning real property management that the Federal Government owns 838 million acres of land and two-and-one-half billion square feet of floor space, equivalent to 1,250 Empire State Buildings, and also has an annual rental bill of over $107 million. There is no provision for unified management of real property. The government does not need all the real property it now holds and it does not make good use of its holdings, the commission declared.

Thirteen recommendations were advanced by the commission on this particular report. One would place responsibility for efficient and economical management of real property with the General Services Administration. This holding of excess property by the Federal Government raises state and local taxes because this federal property cannot be taxed by the smaller units of government. Therefore the rate on remaining taxable property must be raised.

Agreement Reached On Water Supply

A plan for getting a satisfactory water supply for the Braddock Farms section was reached last night at a meeting of a committee representing the 50 families and the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

J. B. Dowling, Health Department sanitarian, said progress was made at the meeting in the Health Department Training Center and that an emergency supply of water may be made available soon.

He said another meeting will be called early next week.

Health officials called a meeting of the citizens Wednesday after tests disclosed the water they were using was contaminated.

Widow Acquires Beer License

Mrs. Bessie Rankin, widow of Alexander Rankin, who died February 7, has obtained a certificate of administration to conduct her late husband's business not exceeding eight months on Mt. Savage Road near Barreilville.

The certificate was filed with the Allegany County Board of Alcohollic Beverages License Commissioners to enable Mrs. Rankin to use the beer license that had been issued to her husband.

Keegan Answers Criticism By Juvenile Judge

Says Quick Action Often Is Needed

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan last night issued a statement in answer to recent criticism of the Police Department by Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron.

Keegan's statement follows:

"I have read within recent weeks of two attacks made by Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron on the City of Cumberland Police Department, dealing with the methods employed by personnel of the Department concerning the arrest of juvenile delinquents."

"Our Department invites constructive criticism, and we feel that there is always room for improvement in any organization which endeavors to keep itself abreast of changing times. However, we do not believe that the vociferousness of Magistrate Baron's attacks are at all justified, and we believe that the impression which his remarks create in the minds of conscientious citizens is unfair to the Police Department."

"This Department has an excellent record in its dealing with the problem of juvenile delinquency, which, fortunately, has never gotten out of hand in Cumberland, and we do not like to see our program undermined by people on whom does not rest the immediate burden of law enforcement."

"In the last case concerning the arrest of a thirteen year old juvenile delinquent and the questioning of the delinquent at his home at 1 o'clock in the morning, and concerning which Magistrate Baron was very caustic, we feel that the public should know that in this instance the father of the boy had upon at least one occasion been arrested for contributing to the delinquency of his own children, that the particular boy in question had been arrested some five times, and in the words of Magistrate Baron himself, was a 'bad boy' that three hours before the arrest the young boy had broken into a business establishment and that in such matters it is often necessary for the police to act quickly if they are to solve the crime."

"The Police Department exists for the protection of all citizens. There are a number of small business firms in the community who rely on the vigilance of the Police Department for protection during the hours of darkness."

"Fortunately, the number of juvenile delinquents who engage in breaking and entering, which is a serious crime and leads to even more serious crimes, are exceptionally few; however, these youths and their families, who are often more derelict in their duties than the boys, must respect the Cumberland Police Department and realize that it intends to act swiftly and efficiently to break up nighttime breaking and entering. Only last year we experienced in Cumberland a series of these crimes, and it is necessary to break up such things as quickly as possible."

"The Cumberland Police Department, through its Police Boys' Club and its general patience and understanding towards juveniles, has repeatedly shown that it is not an organization which believes in what Magistrate Baron calls 'police state methods.' We are trying to do a job just as Magistrate Baron is, and we feel that in view of the criticism leveled towards the Department by Magistrate Baron, it was incumbent upon the Department to give its version of the situation to the public."

"Chief Flynn has recently instructed all police officers to consult the State's Attorney's Office before obtaining warrants, except in emergency situations. In the past we have not done this in juvenile cases or motor vehicle cases, as we did not want to impose upon the State's Attorney's time concerning matters not involving serious offenses and which were traditionally handled by the Department. However, in an effort to show our willingness to try every means of keeping the Department's relations with the public at a high level, we are embarking on this program to see how it works out."

"Above all, I wish to assure the public that although the problem of juvenile delinquency and how to cope with it is always an important problem, yet the problem of juvenile delinquency itself, fortunately, in the City of Cumberland is not critical."
